Council Passes New Parade Regulations

Faced with the prospect of an antiwar parade in the near future, the Seaside City Council has voted unanimously to adopt a new parade ordinance to replace the one which was last year declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court.

The new ordinance contains an emergency clause which allows it to go into immediate effect rather than after the usual 30 day waiting period.

According to city attorney Carey Royster, the reason for this emergency clause is that at least one group wishes to petition the city for a parade.

Although voting for the measure, Councilman Stephen Ross was concerned that the regulations of the ordinance be equally applied to all aplicants.

He was especially worried about provisions which specify that the city manager shall issue a permit after deciding that "the conduct of the parade will not substantially interrupt the safe and orderly movement of traffic in the area of its route" and that "the conduct of the parade is not reasonably likely to cause injury to persons or property, provoke disorderly conduct or create a disturbance."

Ross also expressed concern over the provision which states that each permit shall list, in addition to 15 specifics, "such other requirements as are found by the chief of police to be reasonably necessary for the protection of persons or property.

Councilman Joe Cota also expressed concern that his provision be administered fairly.

Royster explained that the ordinance was based upon similar ones in Salinas and Newport Beach. He added that, because of the broad areas of interpretation it contains, "it will just have to be fairly administered."

Help For Flood Victims Is Asked

In the wake of the recent flood in Manila and 14 provices of Luzon Island which authorities have called the worst natural disaster in Philippine history, CARE is rushing emergency aid to the victims, which include 1.2 million refugees.

Executive Director, Frank L. Goffio announced at CARE headquarters in New York City that CARE is "now distributing 2,250,000 pounds of flour and 324,000 pounds of non-fat dry milk to 250,000 schoolchildren in Philippine flood affected areas. By August 9, CARE will have commenced distribution of an additional 3,600,000 pounds of lour in those areas."

With 356 lives lost and some 6,000,000 persons affected by the flood, CARE is setting up a special "Philippine Flood D a special "Philippine Flood Disater Fund" to help defray costs of the emergency aid. Approximately $100,000 is urgently needed to cover transportation, distribution and supervision of the crisis feeding program.

Contributions may be sent to CARE, Philippine Flood Disaster Fund, 444 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94111.

Policemen Receive Pay Raise

At the last city council meeting, Seaside police officers were granted a pay increase. A 7-1/2 pecent raise was given to sworn officers, 5 percent to record clerks and dispatchers and 2-1/2 percent to secretaries.

The officers were also given a raise in uniform allowance from E from $12.50 to $15.

At the same meeting, Mayor B. J. Dolan informed the council that a new post office for Seaside has been moved up in priority and will be constructed within the next fiscal year.

Dolan read a letter from Thomas J. Donahue, assistant regional postmaster in San Francisco, which said that funds for the design and construction of the proposed building will be requested from the Capital Investment Committee of the Western Region in the next few weeks.

The mayor said that he had been told by Donahue that the new post office would be in operation in from 18 to 24 months.

Hilton Hotel To Be Built In Seaside

On July 6 the Seaside City Council cleared the way for an 8 story Hilton Hotel to be located on the beach next to Holiday Inn.

The 204 room Hilton will occupy the entire 600 feet of shoreline between the Holiday Inn and the planned 618 unit apartment project in Sand City. Seaside Planning Director, Bill Burris, said that the building will probably be set back further from the beach than the Holiday Inn.

Plans call for the 8 story tower containing the hotel rooms and, in addition a one story building with a 500 seat meeting room, a 150 seat cocktail lounge and a 100 seat coffee shop.

Since the tower will be within the ten story height limit, and the site is already zoned for hotels, no official city action will be required other than design approval and issuance of a building permit. But the city council did reserve the right to give final approval to the plans because of the location.

On July 17, Seaside's 5 member board of architectural review criticized the drawings of the hotel. Burris said "the building didn't deliver the Monterey Peninsula image or message." One memeber of the board said that less space should be in asphalt. Parking plans call for an area to accommodate over 300 cars. Architects, representing William Bond and Associates of Memphis, Tenn., will work further on the plans and return at the August 21 meeting. The board had previously directed the architects to revise the plans to insure public access to the beach over an extension of Humbolt Street and to remove a penthouse.

A small group of concerned Seaside residents, in an effort to stall developments until the November vote on the state Coastal Protection Initiative Proposal, have proposed and begun writing letters to Burris and other city officials involved.

Since the Senate National Resources and Wildlife Committee has killed the roastline-protection measure sponsored by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, conservationists will no doubt begin to increase pressure for passage in the November ballot of the Coastal Protection Initiative.

The measure would impose controls on land 1,000 yards inland and three miles out to sea, and would, like the Sieroty Bill, be administered by one statewide and six regional boards. A major difference, however, is that the bill would have given majority powers to local government officials, and the Initiative would equally divide the strength between local government and appointed commissioners. It is therefore considered to be a stronger measure, and has been strongly opposed by real estate and other groups.

Passage, (or defeat) of the Initiative in November could well be a decisive factor in determining the fate of our own beaches in the Monterey area.

SCHOLAR IS HONORED - A four-year college scholarship has been earned by Martcia E. Wade of Seaside, who recently was graduated from Santa Catalina School in Monterey. Miss Wade, who will begin pre-medical studies at Stanford University this fall, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Famous O. Wade. She received certificate confirming her scholarship award from Dr. Jean F. Crum, president of California Medical Association and its educational subsidiary, California Medical Education and Research Foundation, which awards California Physicians' Achievement Scholarships. Recent presentation ceremony took place in San Francisco at meeting of CMA Council. "Each year we award these achievement scholarships to qualified Black high school seniors as part of our effort to bring more people from the minority segments of the population into the health professions. Our scholars traditionally have excelled in their collegiate studies. We are confident that Matcia also will do well, and we look forward to having her as a fellow physician," said Dr. Crum.

Art Exhibit Announced

The August exhibit at the Seaside City Hall is a one-man show of oils by Ida Laura Leach with photography by Gene Fields and Alan Robertson in the display cases. The ours are 8 to 5 Monday through Friday.

Ida Laura Leach studied at the New York Art Student's League under Jon Corbino and has had individual instruction from other artists. She has exhibited her oils in many major cities in the United States. Since coming to the west coast, Mrs. Leach has had one-man shows at the Laguna Beach Gallery, Whittier Art Museum, Studio 15 in Los Angeles and the Aardvark Gallery in Carmel Valley. The latter show was praised by Irene Alexander. Mrs. Leach is a member of the Pacific Grove Art Association, where she has a studio. She uses vivid colors and enjoys doing character studies.

Until six weeks ago, when he decided to devote his full time to natural color photography, Gene Fields was an industrial physiologist. Just o industrial physiologist. Just over three years ago he became interested in photography while trying to find out what was wrong with an old camera. Having no appreciation of nature, the camera opened a whole new world to him. Mr. Fields trys to capture the mood of the scene, or object, he is photographing. He uses no gimmicks and only frames the prints that express the mood he felt when taking them, hoping to stimulate his viewers to memories too. He has been exhibiting his natural color photography for a year.

Alan Robertson has been active in photography for about ten and a half years. He is a graduate of Brooks Institute of Photography in Santa Barbara and is now working on his master of Photography. While in the Army he was a notion picture photographer at Fort Ord. His work has received repeated national recognition through the Professional Photographers of America and the Photographic Society of America with his pictures exhibited throughout the States. Now a resident of Monterey, Mr. Robertson has been exhibiting on the Peninsula for about one and a half years. His photography is shown at the Bob Limber Gallery on Cannery Row and in Carmel at the Beach Wood Gallery.

Women Softballers Are Needed

Attention all women softball players. If you are interested in joining a softball league on the Monterey Peninsula there are seven teams now in operation. However if sufficient interest is shown more may be organized.

Anyone interested in joining should contact Deloris at 394-7250 or Darlene at 394-6266.

1972 County Fair Has Medeival Air

There'll definitely be a medieval atmosphere at the 1972 Monterey County Fair and National Horse Show, which will be in progress Wednesday, August 9, through Sunday, Au0 us 13, at the Fairgrounds in Monterey.

"Legends" is the theme of this year's Fair, and legendary characters in costume will parade through the Fairgrounds, joining each afternoon and evening the two riders who will put on a jousting tournament--in full armor--during the twice-daily Horse Show performances.

The jousting parade will begin from a "Camelot Fair" in the area near the outdoor stage, where medieval crafts will be demonstrated. On the stage, Merlin (Chuck Jones) the Magician will head the many acts which will provide free entertainment from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day. A number of leading bands from the Monterey area will appear as a treat for the young people who will attend the Fair.

The Fair will open on Wednesday morning with the traditional "Early Bird" breakfast, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, from 7:30 - 9 a.m., with Monterey Mayor Al Madden and Leslie Dixon, president of the Monterey County Fair board, officially opening the Fair.

"Kids Day" on Thursday will feature special entertainment for youngsters, which those under 12 admitted free that day. A kids talent contest at 1 p.m. will result in the crowning of a Junior King and Queen.

Children with pets will be admitted free from noon to 12:45 at the Hunt Club gate only on the opening day of the Fair, Wednesday, and the pets will be shown on the stage, competing for several prizes. Everyone showing pets will receive free tickets for rides at the Foley & Burke Combined Shows carnival, one of the top carnivals on the West coast which occupies one end of the Fairgrounds.

Wednesday is also Pepsi Family Day, with the Pepsi Cola Co. offering discount tickets to the Horse Show and carnival, and San Benito County Day. Thursday, in addition to being Kids Day, is Santa Cruz County Day.

Friday is Senior Citizens Day, with senior citizens getting in for half price and honored during the 1 p.m. outdoor show, and it is also Salinas Valley Day. Saturday is Salinas Day and FFA and 4-H Clubs Day, and Sunday, the final day of the Fair, is Grange Day, Monterey Peninsula Day, and Armed Forces Day.

On every day, fairgoers can enjoy the myriads of exhibits which will include livestock (the Animal Nursery, a popular attraction last year, will be back), agricultural products, flowers (gardens, cut flowers, flower arrangements), art, crafts (including crafts-in-action), home economics (including, this year, bread from the Zen Meditation Center at Tassajara), photography (color slides will be projected in a special building), FFA and 4-H exhibits of all kinds, and the many organization and commerical exhibits which give the Fair such a broad appeal.

The Fairgrounds will be open from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. each day, and the National Horse Show performances are scheduled at 1:30 and 7:45 daily. The whole spectrum of equestrian competition is included in the horse show, from jumpers and walking horses through team roping, dressage exhibitions and fine haness and roadsters.

The tree-studded, lawn-covered Fairgrounds setting includes many places for fairgoers to sit and rest, one of these the outdoor eating area ringed with booths offering such varied fare as corn on the cob, tacos, hamburgers, pastrami sandwiches, teriyaki steak, all offered by service clubs with proceeds earmarked for special charitable projects.

Commercial food concessions include the full sit-down restaurant service at the Hunt Club, adjoining the Horse Show arena.

Future Farmers of America (FFA) and 4-H Club members will be competing in many different categories. The junior livestock auction, always a popular Fair event with community leaders bidding on prize animals, is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 12. The auction this year is being dedicated to the late Harry Lourentzos, former auction chairman.

Among the special events tying in with the Fair's "Legends" theme will be a spinning exhibition adjacent to the Crafts building on Sunday afternoon, with a half-dozen spinning wheels set up to show how fleece becomes yarn.

"How beautiful is life! It is like the poet's heart, filled with light and tenderness.

"How cruel is life! It is like a criminal's heart, throbbing with vice and fear."

"THOUGHTS AND MEDITATIONS"

LIFE IS BEAUTIFUL. There is a meaning in this life which death does not conceal. But until the soul can be freed from earthly ties, humanity can not attain the knowledge. Our weak minds can not conceive that sorrow and poverty purify man's heart. As far as our minds are concerned, we see nothing of worth except ease and happiness.

Can you not see that the spirit advances toward the light in spite of worldly hardships? Man is but a toy in the hands of the unknown. Thoughts have a higher dwelling place than this visible world. Imagination finds a road to the realm of the gods, and there man can glimpse that which is to be after the soul's liberation from the world of substance.

In "Thoughts and Meditations" by Kahlil Gibran is the story of a young maiden, a shepherdess, who was very sad. She had lost all faith in ever prospering. When evening grew upon her and the small flock of sheep she was attending, she had been crying. If you have read Gibran you will know that he uses parables like the ones

County Gets State Funds

Welfare Director Robert B. Carleson has announced the allocation of $45,932,031 to the counties as the state's share of the coat of administering welfare in the AFDC and Adult programs.

Monterey County's share was The money comes from a $49,398,600 appropriation by the Legislature in this year's budget.

Under the Welfare Reform Act of 1971, the state for the first time is assuming part of the counties' welfare administrative expense.

Previously the administrative cost had been paid in equal shares by the counties and the Federal Government.

Under the new law, the state pays half of the county share.

Computer Will Help Stop Burglaries

The latest weapon in the flight against burglary will be a computer....at least in Seaside.

Under a grant made recently by the California Council on Criminal Justice, the City of Seaside will receive $39,000 to implement the first phase of an anti-burglary program that uses a computer to predict areas most likely to be targets for burglaries.

The grant, contingent upon completion of legal arrangements between the Council and Seaside authorities, was announced by Robert H. Lawson, executive director of the Council staff in Sacramento.

Based upon computer predictions, two police officers will be assigned to patrol a specific area. They will concentrate exclusively upon burglaries and will not respond to other calls unless there is a police emergency. Their unmarked car will contain report-recording and burglary investigating equipment, plus a special device for night viewing.

The program aims to reduce burglary within the city by 20 percent during its first year of operation. An earlier pilot program resulted in a significantly higher rate of apprehensions and fewer burglaries.

The California Council on Criminal Justice, headed by Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, is the state planning agency responsible for administering and coordinating Federal anti-crime programs, including those under the Omnibus Crime Control Act.

ARMY RECRUITER

Hello everyone. This week I'm going to speak with you about a home away from home. If you've been planning to leave home but you have no place to go, come visit your Army Recruiting Station and I have a place just for you.

If you are a young man or woman between the ages of 18 and 35, and can qualify for enlistment in the US Army, I have a GUARANTEED job for you with the Combat Developments Experimentation Command located at the Fort Ord-Hunter ligget Complex. This option offers you a 16 months guaranteed assignment with the CDEC Command. The mission of CDEC is to work daily testing concepts and techniques that will shape the Army of the future while improving the Army of today. Commanded by an Army Brigadier General, more than 2,500 personnel carry out military field experiments under simulated future combat conditions to determine which combination of men, methods and equipment will prove most effective-from now through 1990 and beyond.

The type of soldier CDEC wants to attract and retain is the one who thrives on adventure, challenge and involvement. One of the ways of doing this is through Adventure Training. This voluntary training takes the soldier out of his everyday routines and presents him with unique challenges such as float trips down the Nacunuebti River, mountain training, Scuba diving, sport parachuting, and speical patrolling techniques.

Don't think that CDEC is all combat training because there are many more technical jobs also that are available. A soldier who joins the CDEC team under the Unit of Choice Option will, after completion of basic training, receive additional schooling that will equalify him as an infantryman, armored crewman or one of 93 other military occupational specialists that make up the CDEC Experimentation Team.

The following people enlisted in the US Army during the month of July. George Helms, 3108 Nicklas Lane, Marina; James Wright, 3239 Vista Del Camino, Marina; Michael Frias, 494 Ridge View, Marina; Robert Cuisinier, 443 Diann Place, Marina; Dean Spice, 539 3rd Ave., Fort Ord; Ronald Newport, 119 Monterey Rd., Fort Ord; Everett Mitchel, Lakeside, CA; Alonza Mitchel, Ladeside, CA; Gary Reber, 1065 Tweed Place, Seaside; Andrew DuBose, 473 Webster St., Monterey; Phillip Young, 1076 3rd St. Monterey; Johnny Olsen, Carmel; Gregory Lindsey, Carmel; and Pedro Navarrette.

For more information concerning the CDEC Unit of Choice Enlistment Option please contact us at 431 Webster St. Monterey or call 372-4742/372-0553.

Navyman Of Quarter

Storekeeper second class Jose I. Fondevida has been selected as the Naval Postgraduate School "Navyman of the Quarter" for the fourth quarter of fiscal year 1972.

A native of Pozorrubio, Pangasinan, Republic of the Philippines, Fondevida is assigned to the Household Goods Office, Personal Property Section, as a supply clerk with duties involving movement and storage of personal property.

Fondevida received a commendation letter at a recent enlisted personnel inspection conducted by Cmdr. K. A. Hamman, Commanding Officer of Enlisted Personnel, NPS. His portrait is also prominently displayed in a showcase window in Herrmann Hall, the Navy school's main administration building.

The commendation reads in part, "Your selection as Navyman of the Quarter is evidence of your outstanding professional competence and leadership ability. In addition, you have demonstrated the imagination, initiative and dedication which are indictive of the type of men selected as the most outstanding assigned to this command.

"... Your ability and willingness to learn, to work hard and to be productive and effective has led to your selection as Navyman of the Quarter, and with those qualities you have gained the appreciation and proud recognition of your shipmates."

Fondevida reported to the Navy school in January 1971 from combat stores ship USS White Plains. He has served previous tours in the combat stores ship USS Niagara Falls and the attack transport ship USS Renville.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin says "gross income from farm sales has been increasing, but the increase is being eaten up by rising costs for labor, equipment, supplies and taxes. The farmer has produced more, increased his dollar sales, only to see his income eroded by rising costs."

SUMMER JOBS

Being lazy this summer--except on weekends--has been dismissed by amny of our area's admirable young people this vacation period as being less important than Getting Ahead. Any many of them are being employed until school starts in September by Uncle Sam who is happy to have their help and not at all prejudiced against hiring employees without work references or proof of past experience.

According to Bob Stuart, Chief of Recruitment and Placement at Fort Ord's Civilian Personnel Office and in charge of the Youth Opportunity Program that is going great guns, "These young people provide the Army with valuable service; but is a two-way street because they are getting a chance to learn a skill or to improve one previously learned. They are getting experience on a job too, and a source of reference when they need one at some future date."

Mr. Stuart stated that the young people are nearly all high school or college students and that they come from Monterey Peninsula, Marina, Salinas, Castroville, Seaside and towns around Hunter Liggett Military Reservation where the Army Combat Developments Experimentation Command's field laboratory is located.

As a few interesting examples, take the eleven young people holding down jobs with CDEC.

Six of them, young high school working as Mess Attendants, or civilian "KPs". They are Gerald G. Conner, Alfred E. Johnson, Gary W. Jones, Chris C. Williams, Geoffrey K Lewis, and Ronnie L. McFarland. The other five are girls, all from Seaside except Mila Daro of Marina who is working at CDEC's Office of the Comptroller as typist. Also form Seaside are Rita D. Burden, clerk typist of the CDEC logistics Division; Mrs. Carmen Jones, typist in the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Experimentation; Cindy Cabadas of who is typist for the CDEC chaplains Office; and Bera Ashurst, receptionist and typist at the CDEC Information Office. Vera lives on Fort Ord now but with the retirement of her Army family is moving to Seaise.

Vera is a senior at San Jose State and is majoring in Sociology and Rita is studying hygienist. Mrs. Jones is a student of Monterey Peninsula College where she is studying Business Management, having attended last year also, with her husband, Dwight Jones. Cindy is not yet at MPC, though when she finishes her senior year with Seaside High School, she plans to enter it, majoring in mathematics about which she is most enthusiastic and which she hopes to use in whatever career she finally selects.

These are CDEC's summer employees; but perhaps the two young ladies who are on Fort Ord's roster, but working at CDEC's field laboratory on Hunter Liggett should be mentioned along with their eleven. They are Jannea Barlogio and Anne Hayes of King City, employed at Liggett as Girl Life Guards. They are senior at King City High School, each planning a college career after graduation for which this summer job will prove helpful, not only as valuable work experience but to enrich the school year budget.

Other summer students on the Post are scattered around the Fort Ord Complex in its offices and its shops. Many of them serve as helpers for journeymen such as plumbers, painters, carpenter, auto repair, electricians and other types besides the clerical.

The Youth Opportunity Program has been in existence since the summer of 1965 at which time there were 70 employees placed in Army jobs at Ord. Now there are 205--and most welcome!

used in the Bible. Anyway, this maiden saw a vision, or an image standing before her. She could imagine only evil at this stage of life, so she asked: "What do you wish of me now?" She pointed to her sheep. "This is the remainder of a once healthy flock that filled this valley. This is all that you have left me. Have you come now to greadily take that? These plains," she continued, "that were once so fertile have been trodden to dust by your feet. My cattle that once grazed upon flowers and produced rich milk, now gnaw on thistles that leave them dry. Inflict me no more!" She added, "The sight of you has made me detest life, and the cruelty of your sickle has caused me to love Death. Leave me in my solitude to drain the cup of sorrow - my best wine. Go where life's wedding feast is being celebrated. Here," she concluded, "let me dream in the bereavement you have prepared for me."

This image concealed his sickle and looked upon her as a loving father looks upon his child, and said, "What I have taken from you were my own gifts. Everyone is entitled to a part of the glory which was yours. I only gave to them what I gave you. Each one of them also has a lean flock and dry pasture. That which you call degradation is an indispensable sleep from which you will draw strength. Know this", he said, "the flower does not return to life except through death, and love does not grow except after separation."

Then the image stretched out his hand and said, "Shake my hand." She shook his hand and looked at him from behind a screen of tears and said, "Farewell." He responded, "Until we meet again, until we meet again."

Kahlil Gibran had a sad life. He was deeply involved with people, and spent most of his lifetime trying to help or ease their sorrows. Once he wrote of an animal, a dog covered with sores, and his body feeble and sick, lying in the rubble of an abandoned house. His sorrowful eyes expressed humiliation, despair, and misery.

He approached the dog slowly, wishing he knew animal speech so he could console him with sympathy. The dog was frightened and tried to rise and run away. He was unable to do so because of his illness and age, so he just looked at the man. In that glance was speech more lucid than man's and more moving than a woman's tears. He understood the dog to say: "Man, I have suffered through illness caused by your brutality and persecution.

"I have run from your brusing foot and taken refuge here, for dust and ashes are gentler than man's heart, these ruins less melancholy than the soul of man. Begone, you intruder from the world of misrule and injustice.

"I am a miserable creature who served you with faith and loyalty. I am man's faithful companion. I guarded him day and night. I grieved during his absence and welcomed him with joy upon his return. I was contented with the crumbs that fell from his table, and happy with the bones that his teeth and stripped. But when I grew old and ill, he drove me from his home and left me to merciless boys of the alleys.

"I see the similarity between me and your fellow men when age disables them. There are soldiers who fought for their country when they were in the prime of life, and who later tilled its soil. But now that the winter of their life has come and they are useful no longer, they are cast aside.

"I also see a resemblance between my lot and that of a woman who, during the days of her lovely maidenhood enlivened the heart of a young man; and who then, as a mother, devoted her life to her children. But now, grown old, she is ignored and avoided. How oppressive you are, and how cruel!"

I have been rambling in metophores and parables of my own, trying to find a way to say what I want to say through someone else. Words of another can never be substituted for your own thoughts. I feel a sort of distress at not being able to stand on anything lasting, definitive, or absolute. Sort of like the thought that in the near future I shall have to buy a new pair of shoes to replace these on my feet. Nothing is lasting. Burn those candles for Andy. He's waving at you with all his heart, and so am I.

Changes take place very rapidly in todays society and at times it is necessary that we stop and survey our activities and especially in our Federal, State and Local Management of Human Resources...where our past policies have led us and where our present policies may take us.

Manpower (and Woman Power) development and utilization has been for several years a matter of grave concern to leaders at all levels of government and it is my firm belief that in the next ten years we will see an even greater degree of empasis and effort devoted to planned development in all area of our nations manpower/women power potential, among our youth of today who will be our leaders of tomorrow, in the great mainstream of the Country's great labor pool and among our senior citizens who still have much to contribute.

In 1963 the Federal Government allocated $250 million dollars for all of the nations manpower development programs. Compare this to the same area of effort for 1973 with an allocated budget of five billion dollars! The manner in which this huge sum of money is utilized and the measure of success achieved will have a tremendour effect on the social, political, and economic policy of our nation in the years ahead. It will certainly involve the enrichment of the human service aspects of our economy to a much greater degree than ever before contemplated.

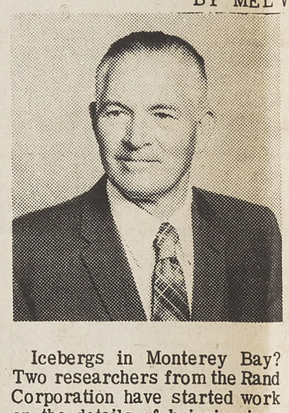
As we look at the training programs of the past 10 years we can see some of the mistakes that we made and perhaps the greatest was the spending of great sums of money training a large number of persons and then discovering that there were no jobs available for most of the trainees. It is now realized that his approach did not work and will not work. The whole concept is now changing to the idea that jobs must be provided and the training be given "on the job."

The "Public Employment Program is now taking a leading position in the total manpower program. In Monterey County we see the movement taking shape under the name of the "PEP" Program in which County and City Governments and the various School Districts participated to appropriate one million dollars of Federal money to create jobs to be filled by the disadvantaged. They are trained on the job and given the opportunity to become permanent employees and to progress upward in the various employment ladders.

This program was originally scheduled for two years, however, I strongly believe that the success of the two year work experiment will surely lead to continuation of P.E.P. for many years.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE



Icebergs in Monterey Bay? Two researchers from the Rand Corporation have started work on the details of bringing icebergs from the Antarctic and using them as a source of fresh water in souther California. They think the cost would be less than the present cost of bringing the water over the mountains from Northern California.

The Antarctic icebergs are not like Arctic bergs, and would be more practical to tow, because they are flatter on the bottom and more wquare on the sides. They can be up to a mile wide and ten miles long, with thicknesses of about 900 feet, which means they would be about one hundred feet out of the water and 800 feet below the surface. Bringing one of these things into Monterey Bay would do wonders for our tourist business, but it might raise a problem with the weather. The sun might not get thru the overcast until the ice was gone.

Anyway, the proposal is to protect the bottoms and sides of the icebergs with double layers of plastic sheeting to keep them from melting during the ten months it would take to tow them to California, and these fellows at Rand expect to tow several of them in a chain at about one knot, which is about one mile per hour.

After delivery, they would grind up the ice and pipe it to storage reservoirs ashore. Maybe it would work, but the whole idea seems a bit way out when they propose to bet that much material to move at one knot, and then expect to pipe that crushed ice thru pipes without adding heat, considering that it is not at 32 degrees like regular ice, but may be super-cooled to 50 or 60 below zero, so we to question the whole concept a little bit.

And the shortage of water is as nothing compared to the shortage of Vice President candidates, at least within the Democratic Party, which is one of the major political parties or was until Lyndon Johnson introduced high-level deceit to the American people on a large scale.

We just have to sympathize a bit with George McGovern, who may not be the second coming of Christ but who at least offers hope to those Americans who would rather save America than save President Thieu. Sen. McGovern has gone all out on this campaing, and did an excellent job, except for a few promises everybody knew were impractical but were part of the American political scene.

And then came the news about Sen. Eagleton's past problems with mental fatigue or whatever, and we suspect that Eagleton's failure to level with McGovern about it before he was selected is an indicator that he may still have a problem or two. With only twelve weeks until the election there is not enough time to educate the people about such things - that maybe it is better to see a head-shrinker and get back on the track that way than to take out frustrations by invading new countries, so Eagleton had to go, and it is too bad he couldn't do it gracefully when the word first got out and it was appraent he was unacceptable. Let us hope that just for the sake of having a choice if for no other reason, that some patriot will have the patriotism to volunteer for the job. Wow, what a shortage of patriots when we really need them.

Attended Convention

Helen Kostohyz and Jewel Toepel, both of Seaside, were two of approximately 800 women who attended the WAVES 30th Anniversary National Convention, which was held at the Hotel Muehlebach in Kansas City from August 3 through 5.

The occasion of the convention was to celebrate the establishment of the WAVES (Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service).

Captain Mildred McAfee Horton, USNR (Ret.), who served as the first Director of the Women's rReserve, spoke at the Saturday evening banquet, which was the highlight of the convention.

A briefing on Saturday morning gave those in attendance at the convention information regarding the current status and problems faced by the Navy. in addition to professional meetings, tours were arranged to places of interest in and around Kansas City.

The first week of August, 1972 is important in Seaside's history as we made progress in our City! On August 1, 1972 the Economic Development Administration received our application for a $300,000 monetary grant request to build our new LIBRARY. We were informed that we did qualify for the monetary grant and that expedited actions were necessary to develop the specific plans with the target date of December, 1972 for groundbreaking ceremonies for our new library! The library location will be on the City owned parcel (2 plus acres) between the Department of Motor Vehicles and City Hall. Unfortunately it was not economically feasible to locate the library east of Fremont.

The second noteworthy event occurred on August 3rd. The Assistant Postmaster General for the Western Regoon, Mr. Tom Donahue, advised us that our new Post Office Building was being afforded the highest priority and should be open for business in less than two years. The Broadway and Terrace Street site will have over 55,000 square feet of space. Building design and actual site layout will be coordinated with the City Planning Department. The City Planning Commission, in the very near future, will be holding a Public Hearing for the abandonment or realignment of an alley on the Broadway-Terrace site. This request will be submitted by the Postal Service after a design plan has been approved. I want to thank the entire community for their support in helping to bring our need for a new Post Office to the attention of the Postmaster General!

Now for the minus side. The entire peninsula is faced with the loss of public bus service effective September 1, 1972. The bus company is demanding a subsidy of $3,000 per month as the total amount needed to remain operational. The City Managers from Monterey, Carmel, Pacific Grove and Seaside are meeting with the bus company management to ascertain the facts and to report their recommendations to their respective Councils. So many of our citizens rely on public transportation, that this matter must be given paramount importance. I am especially concerned about our Blind and Senior Citizens who have total reliance on bus transportation. An early solution is necessary for this problem.

The second problem is also potentially very serious. The City owned water supply system, which furnishes water to 600 family units in the Del Monte Heights area, is dependent upon two deep water wells. One of the water wells has gone dry, and our water reserve in the two storage tanks is less than half full on a daily basis as a result. One well simply cannot satisfy the water requirements for 600 units.

Negotiations are underway with the Redevelopment Agency and HUD to obtain a $40,000 loan (cities matching share will be $10,000) to establish a new deep well.

In the interim all of Del Monte Heights residents are requested to practice water conservation to the maximum extent possible. Please don't waste water in any manner. We will keep you informed on the water problem and our progress in solving this crisis too.

Letter to the Editor

Editor: Have you heard the ominous word that our Bay Rapid Transit System may be discontinued, if the cities of th Peninsula do not help finance it? Mr. Randall Ward, the owner (at the Monterey SP Depot site) feels he cannot indefinitely operate a losing bus system without some help from all the cities he serves.

As one constant passenger on the Bay Rapid Transit buses, going from Carmel to P.G. to Seaside, and all around the Peninsula, I speak for many people who would be sorely deprived if the buses were taken out of service,--as now threatened, end of this month. Think of how many people without cars need these buses....think of how many cars NOT polluting the air we are not using individually....and the parking spaces we're NOT preempting, when we take the good old bus. Think of the young people going to school and college, who NEED thse buses daily! Will you do all you can to influence your City Fathers to help finance the system? Countless people who really need these buses will thank you heartily. Also the merchants, whom many of us could not patronize were it not for the buses.
THANK YOU, AS EVER.
CORDIALLY,

Iona Logie

Editor: The following letter was mailed to Senator Grunsky. I thought this would be of interest to the residents of Seaside and Marina.

Senator: Your questionnaire is very good and wonderful. It gives the voters an oppotunity to express their feelings, convictions and concern in the community where they live in. It is a good idea and let us continue it by all means.

During election year, vigorous rhetoric and campaign promises are being made by candidates. What to do about it after election is quite another thing.

Laws are passed for equal employment opportunities for minority groups. In our area an "affirmative action" plan aimed at giveing racial minority group proportional ratio employment in our schools and county and city government.

In Seaside and Marina in particular there are 25 to 35 percent Filipino American Kids in the Schools. Seeing is believing in the interest of human rights everywhere. I should like to suggest to you to see it for yourself how many Filipino School Teachers employed in proportion to the number of Filipino kinds in the schools.

I think we are getting a raw deal. All of us in America regardless of National Origin, whether white, black or brown pay taxes, but when getting a job, we the people in the minority groups are discriminated.

Discrimination is a cancer in our society. America is sick. We have good laws good cure for our sick society. We have the best prescriptions but what we really need is action and the honest to goodness application of those laws.

Can America solve our problems in discrimination and integration in schools? Can we achieve the plural society with freedom for everyone as envisioned by our founding fathers?

Yes, if we are sensitive enough for the future of our children and their children. Let us set aside our prejudice on account of race or color as we have largely done in the case of religion. Let us join together and adopt this suggestion and our trouble is all over.
Sincerely yours,

Tony Sison

Padre Junipero Serra Day At Mission San Antonio

Sunday, August 13, is PADRE JUNIPERO SERRA DAY at Old Mission San Antonio, near the little town of Jolon in Monterey County. The Franciscan padres there invite California residents, and visitors from everywhere, to be with them as they honor Franciscan Padre Serra, founder of the Old Missions of California and of San Antonio Mission.

The day's events begin with a commemorative Mass at 10:30 a.m., in the ancient mission chapel. The public is welcome. Instead of delivering a sermon, Padre Joseph La Rue, of the mission, will relate the exciting life story of Padre Serra.

During the day, the mission museum will welcome veryone to the free display fof historic artifacts and literature concerning Serra, including memorial medals minted in his honor by the United States Government.

Junipero Serra was born in 1713, on the Spanish Isle of Mallorca. At 16, he joined the Franciscan Order. In 1749, he volunteered to serve as a missionary in the New World. During the next 18 years, he was in Mexico working amidst fantastic dangers. Fearlessly, he went about, preaching to most unlikely listeners. For eitht years, he struggled with sun-worshipping mountaineers in the wild and isolated Sierra Gorda.

During the following ten years, he criss-crossed Mexico, confronting boisterous adventurers in roaring mining camps, and swaggering men of the sea in lawless ports. By contrast, he brought his message also to some of the most cultured people of the age, in civilized cities.

Of particular interest to visitors at Old Mission San Antonio, is a FREE display of historic relics and literature connected with Serra's years as Apostle of the Golden State. He began the project in 1769, and reached Jolon in 1771, to establish San Antonio as the third mission in his chain. His arrival meant a new life for the primitive Indians, and opened the area to European civilization.

Padre Serra is long known as the First Citizen of California. He represents the state in Statuary Hall, Washington, D.C. Other Serra statues are seen in cities from San Francisco to San Diego and the State Capitol at Sacramento. Somehow, they remind the observer of the 10,000 miles that Serra walked -- or rather limped -- during his missionary work in North America, in spite of a painfully ulcerated leg. Yet, he was not content. He urged further exploration, by sea to Alaska, and overland to New Mexico.

Visitors to Old Mission San Antonio are welcome to sue its ample modern picnic facilities, FREE of charge. It's a comfortable place for families to rest and dine outdoors, and for children to play.

The Padres at San Antonio Mission remind visitors planning to go there for the Serra celebration, Sunday, August 13, that the mission is easy to reach by Highway 101. From the north, turn west on Jolon Road above King City. From the south, take the well-marked turnoof above Bradley.

Entertainers

California State Fair special events director June Wimer has put out a call for volunteers from ethnic groups willing to entertain during International Days at Cal Expo.

The fair runs August 25 through September 13 and on 10 of those 20 days, a different county will be honored.

Mrs. Wimer said bands, singers and other entertainers are needed for Canada, China, the Netherlands and Italy International Days.

Authentic entertainment has already been planned for Japan, Germany, Mexico, the Phillipines, Portugal, Scandinavia and Greece International Days.

Those interested in participating may contact Mrs. Wimer at 641-2551.

$200,000 In Budget For Allensworth State Park

The $7.7 billion budget signed into law recently by Governor Reagan contains $200,000 to start acquisition of the townsite of Allensworth in southwestern Tulare County, as a state park. The amount was inserted into the budget by the State Legislature.

Assemblyman John J. Miller's bill AB-562 would direct the State Department of Parks and Recreation to acquire all of the 240-acre town, established early in the century as an all-Black community. The eventual cost of making it a state park dealing with the history of Blacks in California is estimated at $2.5 million.

In December of 1971, Parks and Recreation recommended that the historic townsite be preserved as a state park and as a center for the study of Black history in this state.

The town was named for Colonel Allen Allensworth, an ex-slave, who founded the community in 1908 as a haven for other ex-slaves.

The budgeting of a sum sufficient to start acquiring land in Allensworth brings one step nearer to fruition a project which has had the long-term support of many Black citizens of California.

HIS DREAM

Allensworth's dream town experienced its greatest period of growth from 1908 to 1918. It then started to decline because of a water shortage. Later, its residents migrated to the state's larger cities. However, a dozen Black families still live there.

It has been estimated by the State Parks and Recreation Department that some 400,000 tourists will visit Allensworth each year, when it becomes a state park.

COMMITTEE

A power in the effort to gain recognition for Allensworth has been Cecil Berkley, the brother of POST editor-publisher Thomas L. Berkley. Cecil Berkley, a Tulare resident, was appointed with 18 other Blacks to the Allensworth Advisory Committee formed in 1969 by Governor Reagan to advise Parks and Recreation on the desirability and feasibility of incorporating Allensworth into the state park system.

The committee also includes Dr. Kenneth Goode of UC-Berkeley, Dr. Edward France of Cal-State Hayward, and Eugene Lasartemay, president of the East Bay Negro Historical Society.

San Francisco members of the committee include Robert Thornton, Ellena Albert of the African American Historical and Cultural Society of San Francisco, and Grandvel Jackson of the San Francisco Unified School District.

Other members of the original committee are Vassie Wright, Ben S. Perry and Cecil Murrell, Los Angeles; Ernest Hartzog, San Diego; James Holloway, Sacramento; George Pope, Tulare; Hattie Crawford, Wasco; and Leamon King, Delano.

Additional appointees to the group are Mrs. George Smith of Los Angeles, a descendant of Colonel Allensworth; Mrs. Willie Pope and Jeff Pierro, residents of the town; and M. L. Jenkins, of Tulare.

BACKGROUND

Colonel Allensworth's hope was to establish a community where people might settle permanently, educating themselves to meet the requirements for living a fruitful existance in a hostile and competitive society, with its slave-oriented social attitudes.

He migrated to the Los Angeles area following his retirement from the military. Then he selected the site of his town as being best suited for colonization. The original purchase was of 20 acres.

The town experienced rapid growth until it reached the size of about 80 acres. It became a school district in 1912 and a judicial district in 1914.

Today, Allensworth is almost deserted. Of the 35 dwellings still standing, no more than 12 are occupied and less than half of the occupants own the property.

Still standing are Allensworth's home and the schoolhouse. Remains of the church and the general store are still evident but the hotel has disappeared totally.

The committee has recommended restoration of Allensworth's home, the school, the church, the general store and the hotel.

Recommended also is construction of an educational and cultural facility to illustrate to the public the development of the town and the participation of Blacks in the historical and cultural development of California.

Camp and picnic grounds are also recommended.

Chamber of Commerce Progress Report

By Verlaine Crawford
Manager

Last month, as a representative of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce, I spent one week at the Institute of Organization Management at the University of Santa Clara, July 17 through 21 was spent in classroom training to become effective as a manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The emphasis of all speakers and teachers during the week was on the tremendous change going on in our society. When you stop and think about change and the rate of change, you will realize that most of the significant changes in our civilization, technologically, have taken place in just the past generation.

If you consider all the years men have lived on this planet, it would average out to be about 800 lifetimes. During that time there have been four major communication breakthroughs...5,000 years ago, the written word; 500 years ago, the printed word; 50 years ago, radio and television, and 5 years ago, worldwide satellite communication.

Addressing the 300 delegates from all over the United States, Harold P. Pluimer said, "The automobile represents the point-of-not-return for mankind. Until 45 years ago, man's maximum velocity of movement was 20 miles per hour. For 2,000 years, this was the fastest speed he could obtain between two points. In the 45 years since, the automobile has attained speeds above 250 mph, but the Wright brothers at Kittyhawk opened the door to the skies. Then men moved first to 2,500 miles per hour, and then out into space at speeds of 25,000 mph. And on the drawing board are spacecrafts capable of speeds in excess of 250,000 mph.

Where does the Chamber fit in the midst of all this change? The goal of the members of the Chamber is to help direct change in a construction manner.

The PURPOSE of the Chamber of Commerce is:

1) Retain the free enterprise system with free competitive markets.
2) Increase business growth and development of jobs within the market.
3) Assist in the orderly growth and development of the community and its people.
4) Contribute to building a healthy business climate to assure economic stability.

As a group of investors in the future of Seaside, the members of the Chamber of Commerce are working together to set short and long range goals which will encourage economic development by establishing a sound Program of Work for our community.

As a service organization, serving the needs of the business community, the Chamber of Commerce is the focal point of the world's first service-centered culture. Two generations ago, 40 per cent of the people were on the farm. One generation later, 50 per cent of the people moved into industry...and now, today, 60 per cent of the people are employed in service to others. This figure will grow to 70 percent in the 1970's, Pluimer predicted.

The Institute of Organization Management, no only gave the generalities of the movement and change in our society, but it also presented the "nuts and bolts", the veryday facts and figures needed for running a Chamber of Commerce. One week can enlighten a lifetime, and I hope to use this material to help guide our community in the future.

Sculpture That Moves

A dazzling exhibition of stainless steel sculptures that soar, swing, sway, rotate, dance and vibrate in the wind by master kinetic sculpture George Rickey are on display in the first newly constructed gallery of the San Francisco Museum of Art.

Motivated by air currents from hidden electric fans, the approximate 45 structures accompanied by 18 related drawings express the shapes and movements of natural phenomena.

The tallest piece, a 20 foot construction with gliding blades, gracefully reaches towards the skylight of the spacious new gallery, as if sculpture and environment were made for each other.

Award Is Criticized

The decision to honor Cole resulted in the resignation from the council of Walter Sandbach, executive director of Consumers Union.

In a telegram to the council, Sandbach said "the naming of Cole, known in the automotive industry as the 'father of the Corvair,' one of the most dangerous cars produced in recent years, makes mockery of the council's efforts to stimulate the development of safer cars."

While the presentation was being made at the St. Francis Hotel, about 50 pickets marched outside. They carried signs reading "Enjoy Your Vega--Between Recalls," "Put GM's Safety Award in ITT's Paper Shredder" and "GM Makes Cars With Congenital Birth Defects."

Cole told newsmen that critics of Detroit fail to understand the complexity of automotive engineering and are pushing for safety standards which will make cars too expensive for the average consumer.

He said such critics might "take a different attitude (if they) could be with us for 24 hours to see some of the things we have to deal with in a very complex business."

One--the first annual Excalibur award for auto safety--came from the National Motor Vehicle Safety Advisory Council. The presentation was made in San Francisco at the First International Congress on Automotive Safety.

The other award--for "automotive engineering mal-practice" -- came from Ralph Nader's Raiders.

Nader had earlier criticized the safety award as "outrageous," charging that "it reveals conflicts of interest within the advisory council and the final takeover of that council by automotive interests."

Demand Recall

The Center for Auto Safety -- a consumer group backed by Ralph Nader -- has called on the Ford Motor Company to recall more than four million full-size 1965-69 models because of what was described as defective control arms which could allow a front wheel to "become suddenly detached."

The group described the affected cars as 1965-69 Galaxies, Customs, LTDs and station wagons, 1968-69 Thunderbirds and 1965,69 Mercury Montereys, Montclairs, Parklands, Marquises, Broughams and station wagons.

The Center for Auto Safety wrote to Henry Ford II, saying "it is incredulous that Ford, in the face of continued arm failures, persists in its self-serving declaration that the arms are safe."

Ford's automotive safety director, John Eckhold, immediately denied the charge, saying that "numerous tests on scientifically instrumentive cars...demonstrate that the claimed 'failures' stem in fact from damage to the lower control arms."

The consumer group said the control arms fracture because of the "thinness of the metal and stamping process used to produce the part."

Team-Work Will Do It

Over in Gotenborg, Sweden, the Volvo factory has decided that the assembly line has got to go, to be replaced by working groups of 20 to 25 men who put a car together as a team.

Volvo's executives estimate that the working time per car will be the same as it was under the assembly line technique.

Each working group is to be responsible for its own part of the car --the steering system, the brakes, the gear boxes and so on. The group itself is to decide its own working speed and which of its members is to do what.

The decision came as a result of a huge labor turnover, which required the company to keep one-seventh of its work-force in reserve.

The head of Volvo, Pehr Gyllenhammer, says:

"It is a basic need for people to work in groups. The traditional car assembly line tends to isolate individuals."

Volvo now has 38,000 employees and produces 175,000 cars a year. Under the new system, 600 people are to work assembling 30,000 cars yearly in one plant.

The council's function is to advise the Department of Transportation on auto safety.

Exchange Of Quips

Evangelist Billy Graham told Dick Cavett the story of how he stared a baboon down and that this was a dangerous thing to do but he was not aware of it at the time. "Obviously, he didn't know who you were," replied Cavett.

MATRICULATES - La Dashia Mary Franklin, 17, is last of four children of Rev. and Mrs. Dennis Franklin to graduate from Monterey High School. Margaret Ann was a member of Class of 1961; Bruce Eddie, Class of 1968 and Dennis Edward, Jr., Class of 1969. La Dashia was member of school band for past three years and participant in California Music Educators Asso., Central Coast Section, High School Band for past two years. La Dashia will continue her education at Oral Roberts University in Tulsa Oklahoma as music major.

WELCOME ADDITION - Specialist 4 Jim Henson, social work specialist at Ft. Ord's Army Community Service, accepts books from Private Bob Nixon, member of 1st Battalion, 149th Armor, Salinas National Guard. The unit donated over 35,000 paperback books to be distributed on Ft. Ord last week.

A's Announce Vida Blue Day

The A's have named their 1:30 game of Saturday, August 26, against the American League Champion Baltimore Orioles as "Vida Blue Day".

American League President, Joseph E. Cronin, will be on hand that day to present Vida with his 1971 American League Most Valuable Player and Cy Young Awards just prior to game time. The De Molays of Northern California will also provide pre-game pageantry.

Vida took the baseball world by storm in his first major league season last year and, at the age of 22, became the youngest player ever to win the Cy Young Award and only the second pitchd in American League history to be named Most Valuable Player. the fastabbling left-hander led the league with an ERA of 1.82, finished second in strikeouts (301), complete games (24) and wins (24) and third in innings pitched (312). Vida was tops in the league in shutouts with 8, leaving him one short of Babe Roth's 1916 record for a left-hander in a season. He also was the starting and winning pitcher in last year's All-Star Game in Detroit.

Meeting Ends Saturday

Nearly 15,000 people are expected to arrive in the seaside town of Soquel this weekned for the second and final weekend of the 94th annual Seventh-day Adventist camp-meeting for the 19,000 Adventist members of Central California.

The convocation, which started a week ago will end Saturday night with an address by R. H. Pierson, world president of over two million Adventists. Pierson, who is headquartered in Washington, D.C., has conducted a daily series of religiously-oriented devotions during the past week.

Another featured guest of the Adventist convocation will be H. M. S. Richards, Sr., founder and speaker-emeritus of the international Voice of Prophecy radio-broadcast. Richards, who has been in radio work since 1930, will help conduct an ordination service for three pastors, three educators, and one editor.

The ordination, which will confer upon the candidates the title of "elder," will qualify the seven to perform the rites of baptism and marrage.

"The world doesn't need to know if you talked with God, but only what He said," Richards will tell the candidates.

In addition to many returned overseas missionaries and other church officials on hand for the closing weekend will be Kenneth H. Wood, editor of the Adventists' official church publication, the REVIEW AND HERALD. His wife, Miriam, is the Adventist "Dear Abby," who in her bi-weekly column in the church paper, answers many perplexing problems facing the church youth today.

Wrapping up a series of ten-day appearances at the camp meeting and in the Santa Cruz area will be "The Twelve," a group of 12 college students active this summer in a unique witnessing program centered around "fitness, family, freedom, faith, and fulfillment." Combining their talents of singing, dramatics, and gymnastics, The Twelve have travelled over much of California presenting the gospel in a practical, meaningful approach.

The 104-acre church-owned campground, which was filled with over 16,000 people last weekend, has had 6,000 camped temporarily during the week.

EARLY ARRIVALS

Columbus brought the first dairy cows to the Anerucas on his second trip to the western hemisphere in 1493.

Barracks Is Dedicated

The new co-ed barracks at the Defense Language Institute, West Coast Branch, was dedicated to the memory of a former student, Chief Engineman Frank W. Bomar, USN, in a formal ceremony August 8.

The ceremony took place at Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Bldg. 622, beginning at 10 a.m.

Local Man Is Honored

Pacific Grove resident Earl D. Flanigan, 1142 Seaview Avenue, an insurance representative with Hearthstone Insurance Company of Massachusetts, has received an award for outstanding sales service to the public.

Toby Perry, regional sales manager, said Flanigan won the Pearl Award in the W. Clement Stone International Sales and Management Achievement Club. The international club is named after the company's founder and board chairman.

Hearthstone is a subsidiary of the Combined group of companies which specialize in accident and health income-protection and life insurance. The group provides insurance protection for approximately 5,400,000 policyholders. Last year it paid benefits in excess of $47,000,000.

The company is unusual in that the needs of customers are under constant review, with representatives calling personally on policyholders at lease every six months to provide individual service. Flanigan, in February 1972, joined Heathstone as a representative and his work in service to policyholders earned his his award.

Chairman of Telethon Is Named

Mr. Kenneth Lofink of Monterey has been named Monterey County chairman of the 7th annual Labor Day weekend Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, the MDAA announced.

Jerry Lewis, National Chairman of MDAA, will host the 20-hour Telethon over a special 150 network program which will originate "live" from New York City with live segments from Hollywood, Las Vegas and Nashville. Bay Area stations participating are Channel 11, KNTV, San Jose and Channel 44, KBHK-TV, San Francisco, with frequent cutaway telecasts originating locally. The Telethon will also be carried by KCRA-TV, Channel 3, Sacramento. Last year the Telethon raised more than $8 million for the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Mr. Lofink is enlisting the aid of business, professional and civic leaders to organize Pre-Telethon fund raising events and to enroll volunteers and to man and assist at the Monterey County Telethon phone centers.

MDAA supports some 150 research projects in medical and scientific institutions throughout the United States and the world and maintains a network of free clinics through the U.S.

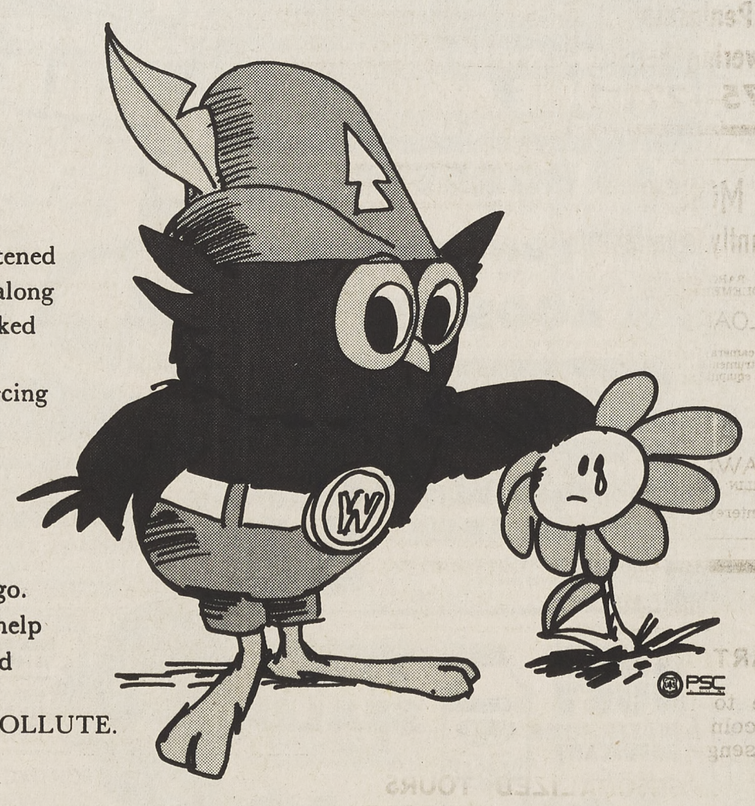
JOUSTING TOURNAMENTS DAILY

AUGUST 9 thru 13

A Sherwood Forest filled with fun and excitement.

The birds, animals & flowers are dying to tell us... "Give a hoot, don't pollute."



Everywhere you look, our environment is being threatened by pollution. Wild flowers along our roadsides are being picked rather than admired.
Smog is killing trees, it's forcing birds to find new homes.
Fish are running out of clean water. Just what's being done about it?
A lot. But we've got a lot more to do, a long way to go.
Let's all do our part. And help keep the birds, animals, and flowers alive.
GIVE A HOOT, DON'T POLLUTE.

Join Woodsy Owl's fight against pollution. Today.

Legal Notice

ORDINANCE NO. 417

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SEASIDE REPEALING SECTION 9-108 OF, AND ADDING SECTION 9-108 & 9-109, TO THE SEASIDE MUNICIPAL CODE, RELATING TO PARADES ON PUBLIC STREETS AND SIDEWALKS

The City Council of the City of Seaside does ordain as follows:

Section 1. Section 9-108 of the Municipal Code of the City of Seaside is repealed.

Section 2. Section 9-108 is added to the Municipal Code of the City of Seaside to read as follows:

9-108. Parade Permit Required
(a) No person shall engage in, participate in, aid, form, or start any parade unless such permit is carried by the person heading or leading such activity; provided, however, that the provisions hereof shall not apply to funeral processions; nor to students of the schools going to and from classes or when constituting a part of their educational activities and under the immediate direction and supervision of the proper school authorities; nor to any governmental agency within the scope of its functions.
As used in this Section, "parade" shall be deemed to mean any parade, march, ceremony, exhibition, pageant, procession, demonstration, or assembly of any kind, or any similar display, in or upon any public street.
(b) Any person seeking issuance of a parade permit shall file and application, accompanied by a non-returnable fee of $35.00, with the City Manager on forms to be provided by said official, and setting forth the following information:

(1) The name, address and telephone number of the person seeking to conduct the parade;
(2) If to be held by an organization, the name, address and telephone number of the headquarters of same, and of the officers of said organization;
(3) The name, address, and telephone number of the parade chairman, or the person otherwise responsible for its conduct;
(4) The date on which the parade is to be held;
(5) The parade route to be followed, including the starting and termination points;
(6) The approximate number of persons and/or animals and vehibles, and the kinds and type thereof, who will take part in the parade;
(7) The approximate hours at which the parade will start and terminate;
(8) The location of streets of any assembly areas for the parade;
(9) The maximum length of the components of the parade in miles or fractions thereof;
(10) Such additional information as the City Manager shall deem reasonably necessary in determining whether or not the permit shall issue, under the standards set forth below.

(c) Time of Filing Application
An application for a parade permit shall be filed with the City Manager not less than ten days before the date on which it is proposed to conduct the parade. However, where good cause is shown, the City Manager shall have the authority to consider an application hereunder which has been filed less then ten days before the parade date.

(d) Standards For Issuance
The City Manager shall issue the parade permit upon a finding that:

(1) The conduct of the parade will not substantially interrupt the safe and orderly movement of traffic in the area of its route;
(2) The conduct of the parade is not reasonably likely to cause injury to persons or property, provoke disorderly conduct or create a disturbance;
(3) The conduct of the parade will not require the diversion of so great a number of police officers of the city as to prevent the normal police protection thereof; in the event that the anticipated crowds at the parade will reasonably require the use of extra police officers and/or firemen, the cost of hiring such persons shall be at the expense of the person or group applying for the permit. Payment shall be at the established rate of pay and a deposit covering such expenses shall be deposited with the City Clerk not less than three days prior to the parade or assembly;
(4) The concentration of persons and/or animals and vehicles in the parade will not unreasonably interfere with proper fire and police protection of areas in the vicinity of the parade, its assembly areas, or other areas of the city;
(5) The parade is scheduled to move from its point of origin to its point of termination expeditiously and without unreasonable delays en route;
(6) The parade is not to be held for the principal purpose of advertising any product, goods, or event, and is not designed to be held principally for private profit.

(e) Notification by City Manager
The City Manager shall act upon the application for a parade permit within five days after the filing thereof. If the City Manager disapproves of the application, he shall mail to the applicant, within five days after the date on which the application was filed, a notice of his action, stating the reason for his denial of the permit.
(f) Appeal to City Council
Any person aggrieved by such acton of the City Manager shall have the right to appeal to the City Council by filing with the City Clerk, within five days from the after the date of denial, a written notice of appeal which shall set forth the grounds for such appeal. The City Council shall act on such appeal as expeditiously as possible.
(g) Contents of Permit
Each permit shall specify the following:

(1) The assembly area and time thereof;
(2) The starting time;
(3) The minimum and maximum speeds;
(4) The route of the parade or motorcade;
(5) What portions of streets to be traversed may be occupied by such parade of motorcade.
(6) The maximum number of platoons or units and the maximum and minimum intervals of space to be maintained between the units of such parade or motorcade;
(7) The maximum length of such parade or motorcade in miles or fractions thereof;
(8) The disbanding area, and disbanding time;
(9) The number of persons required to monitor the parade or motorcade;
(10) The number and type of vehicles, if any;
(11) The material and maximum size of any sign, banner, placard or carrying device therefor;
(12) The materials used in the construction of floats used in the parade shall be of fire retardant materials and shall be subject to such requirements concerning fire safety as may be determined by the Fire Chief;
(13) That permittee advise all participants in the parade or motorcade either orally or by written notice, of the terms and conditions of the permit, prior to the commencement of such parade or motorcade;
(14) That the amplification of sound permitted to be emitted from sound trucks, or bull horns, be fixed and not variable;
(15) That the parade or motorcade continue to move at a fixed rate of speed and that any willful delay or willful stopping of said parade or motorcade, except when reasonably required for the safe and orderly conduct of the parade or motorcade, shall constitute a violation of the permit; and
(16) Such other requirements as are found by the Chief of Police to be reasonably necessary for the protection of persons or property.

All conditions of the permit shall be complied with as far as reasonably practicable.

(h) Revocation of permit
The City Manager shall have the authority to revoke a parade permit issued hereunder in the event that he shall find and determine that any term, condition, restriction or limitation of such permit shall have been violated or is being violated, or if he should find that, due to changed circumstances, any one or more of the standards specified in Subsection (d) has not been satisfied. Appeal to the City Council from any such revocation may be taken as hereinabove specified in Subsection (f).

Section 3. Section 9-109 is added to the Municipal Code of the City of Seaside, to read as follows:

9-109. Persons not to Obstruct Street.
It shall be unlawful for any person to obstruct the free use of any street or sidewalk, except as provided for in Section 9-108.

Section 4. The City Council of the City of Seaside hereby finds and declares that this ordinance is an emergency measure and is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety and shall take effect immediately upon the adopton hereof. The facts constituting the urgency are that on May 17, 1971 the Supreme Court of the State of California held that the parade ordinance of the City was unconstitutional on its face.
Informal inquiries have recently been made of the City regarding permits to stage assemblies and parades within the City. Under the holding of the State Supreme Court the present ordinance has no standards under which a parade permit can be granted or denied. Thus, it is necessary that this ordinance take effect immediately.

INTRODUCED, PASSED and ADOPTED as an urgency ordinance this 3rd day of August, 1972, by the following vote:

AYES, Councilmen: Barton, Ross, Cota and Mayor Dolan
NOES, Councilmen: None
ABSENT, Councilmen: Olea

Simon Edits

"Ethnic Writers in America," an anthology-text edited by Dr. Myron Simon of UC Irvine, has been released by the publisher, Harcourt Brace Jovanovich.

It examines the literary productions of four American ethnic communities -- Black, Jewish, Irish and Armenian -- from the turn of the century

Assemblyman Says State Has Billion Africa Investment

The state of California has more than $1 billion of its funds invested in African nations which oppress Blacks, Assemblyman John Burton (D, San Francisco) charged recently.

Assemblyman Burton said the investments are held by the Legislators' Retirement System, the Public Employes Retirement System, the state's Pooled Money Investment Board and the University of California.

Burton listed the African nations as South Africa, Rhodesia, Namibia, Angola and Mozambique.

Burton, who is the chairman of the Assembly Rules Committee, said the investment figure is from an Assembly Office of Research study which he ordered made into California's financial involvement with firms operating in Southern Africa.

In a news release, he said:

"For instance, investments in IBM amount to more than $68 million.

"This is the same company which computerizes the data necessary for the pass system employed to enforce apartheid in South Africa."

He added that he intends to ask the legislature to consider "various courses of action" in the matter.

"We could refuse," he said, "to make state purchases from or invest state funds in corporations operating in Southern African countries practicing apartheid and oppressing Black majorities."

The 53-page survey was conducted by the Assembly Office of Research, which has been set up to provide lawmakers with facts and figures.

The survey revealed that in 1970 California purchased $10 million of goods from Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company, which provided South Africa with atomic energy.

According to the study, public investors or purchasers of goods with firms doing business in the racist African nations included the University of California, with $340 million of endowments or pension funds invested in firms dealing with such nations.

RECOMMENDED

The Office of Research recommended several actions.

One was to have the state and all of its local entities divest themselves of holdings in all firms doing business in the racist nations.

Another was that the state could use its voting stock to try to prevail upon other stockholders to begin "a policy of disengagement" from Southern Africa.

Vice Chairman Basil Paterson Is Strongly Supported

The first exposure of Basil Paterson to many of the nation's Blacks came on Sunday, when he appeared on "Meet the Press" with Democratic Party Chairman Jean Westwood, calling for Senator Thomas Eagleton (D, Missouri) to step down as vice presidential nominee, which Eagleton did Monday after conferring with Senator McGovern.

Paterson is the new vice chairman of the Democratic Party. He has had a distinguished career in New York as a political and civic leader.

Paterson was the first Black to run for statewide office in New York when he was the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor in 1970 on the unsuccessful ticket headed by Arthur Goldberg.

Paterson became the first Black to achieve high party office when he was elected a national committeeman on June 24, after the unexpected withdrawal of the Bronx Democratic leader Patrick J. Cunningham.

Paterson, 45, was born in New York City. He is a Roman Catholic.

After graduating from DeWitt Clinton High School, he attended St. John's College and St. John's Law School, earning his law degree in 1951. His firm, Paterson, Michael & Murray, has offices in Harlem.

In 1964, he became president of the New York branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). He has been active in other civic and community organizations.

Paterson first sought public office in 1965, running for the State Senate in the 27th District, which encompasses Morningside Heights, Manhattan's upper east side and part of Harlem.

He built wide support in the heterogeneous district, getting more than 80 percent of the vote that year and in two reelection campaigns. He was selected in 1967 by the Eagleton Institute of Politics as one of two outstanding legislators in New York State.

Paterson gave up his Senate seat to become a candidate for lieutenant governor. He then became executive vice-present and special features editor of the New York Law Journal.

At the request of Governor Nelson Rockefeller, Paterson served on the Temporary State Commission on the Powers of Local Government, headed by New York's former mayor, Robert Wagner.
